

How does a shy person give away 12 copies of the book

(remember, the mission is to infect 12 brains...)

▶ Within your zip code, there are probably more than a dozen little free libraries. To find yours go to the little free library map at littlefreelibrary.org and plug in your zip code.

▶ Put a stack at the local organic grocery community room or community bulletin board with a little sign that says "free take one".

▶ Give 12 copies away to 12 people you work with. Maybe come in early and put a copy on everybody's chair.

▶ Give 12 copies to the staff at your local re-store. They are all about building stuff - even a better world!

▶ Set aside the 12 copies and give them to people as gifts for birthdays and christmas:

- sisters, brothers, mom, dad, grandma, grandpa, sons, daughters, grandchildren
- aunts, uncles, cousins
- close friends, neighbors

▶ Donate 4 copies to:

- the local public library
- high school library
- community college library
- university library

▶ Go to three local used book stores and see if they will buy 4 copies from you for a buck each.

▶ Donate three copies to the goodwill.

▶ Sell the books for a quarter at a yard sale.

▶ Arrange for a copy for every student at a local PDC or related workshop.

▶ Donate the books for an NPR fundraiser (or other fundraisers.)

▶ Give 12 books to a gregarious, extroverted friend who has no problem giving books to people.
