

Homestead

Sign indicating my "road" at the end of my driveway

Looking up the road my driveway is off of:

Down the same road (very rural):

From the road looking down my driveway notice it curves around, can not see the house from the road it is about 250 ft. away.

At curve around driveway, as seen in picture above, continuing on down the driveway.

Around the curve in the picture above, driveway curves quite a bit out of the way for lots of privacy and safety:

Top of driveway looking down towards end of driveway, next to shed in picture above:

Bottom of driveway looking back up:

Front of their new home:

Front yard, not very big but it is mostly used for the birds and other wild creatures, to the right it drops off but there is a field down there as shown in the next pic:

Field down below house, right (north) end of field next pic is left or south end. There is a garden now in this part of this field (new pic when weather allows):

Other end of field, pic taken from top of side yard:

Side yard taken from the far end, nice playing area:

Back yard closest to house, there is another portion up the hill by the shed but there is a small patch of woods between the back yards.

Other part of back yard:

Hill area to get to back side of back yard (taken from southwest corner of the house):

Another view of the side yard taken from the southwest corner of the house:

Next two pics are the back of the house from different angles:

